

A little like Bridget....

I'm feeling a little like Bridget Jones, sitting here writing my thoughts, but I know I'm not alone in wanting to make them available for public view! There are many people who are looking to start blogs or other types of writing ventures. Many people are just starting out and may be feeling a little overwhelmed at the prospect of where to begin.

Take comfort in the knowledge that you are not alone. The many on-line tutorials on all different types of writing for on-line purposes, or any purposes, are a testament to this. Don't be put off from your writing goals by being unsure of where to start. Take the plunge and just start writing, you never know where you might end up!

<http://alistapart.com/articles/writebetter> http://www.writing.com/page/blog_writing/blog_writing.html